

AIDS 2022 Workshop

Stretching the Dollar: Developments in Lower Cost Methods for Estimating Key Population Size and Measuring Service Coverage

Combined Speaker Bios

Helgar Musyoki is a public Health specialist and with overall 25 years of work experience in clinical services, HIV prevention, care and treatment programmes and managing national programs for Key Populations. Helgar works with the Global Fund as a Key Populations Technical Advisor for High Impact Africa II.

Email: Helgar.Musyoki@theglobalfund.org

Hally Mahler is FHI 360's HIV Director and also the Director of the USAID-funded EpiC Project which has a global footprint in more than 40 countries. She has worked on HIV and "adjacent" areas for more than 30 years.

Email: HMahler@fhi360.org

Navindra Persaud is a medical epidemiologist with over 25 years of experience in monitoring, evaluation, research, disease surveillance, strategic planning, routine health information systems, and capacity building in Africa, Asia, and the Caribbean. Navindra is the Strategic Information Director within the HIV Division at FHI 360.

Email: NPersaud@fhi360.org

Virupax Ranebennur has more than 30 years of experience of working in public health including program planning, developing systems, conducting needs assessment, leading a team of professionals to achieve high standards of program goals with an evidence-based program planning. Virupax is currently a Senior Technical Advisor for Strategic Information, where he provided support to global programs in implementing key populations program. He also is responsible for setting up systems for monitoring programs systematically across Africa, Asia, Caribbean countries.

Email: vranebennur@fhi360.org

Annette Verster is a social anthropologist and works with the World Health Organization in Geneva at the department of HIV, Viral hepatitis, and STIs. There, she leads the work on HIV, viral hepatitis and STIs in key populations.

Email: versteran@who.int

Maka Gogia is a program director at the Georgian Harm Reduction Network. She has extensive experience in the provision of studies, in-depth work with HIV key populations, civil society, policy and decision makers to support vulnerable groups in accessing services and mitigating the impact of recent disruptions from the COVID-19 pandemic at a local and regional level. Maka also serves as the Director of the Board (Vice Chair) of the European AIDs Treatment Group.

Email: marine_gogia@yahoo.com

Susie McLean is the HIV prevention lead at the Global Fund, providing advice on GF HIV prevention investments. Susie has a long history of HIV prevention programming in many countries in Asia, Africa and Eastern Europe, with a particular focus on community-based prevention programs and harm reduction programs, along with an interest in results-based HIV prevention programming.

Email: susie.mclean@theglobalfund.org

William Miller has implemented BBS and population size exercises in Latin America and sub-Saharan Africa, conducted research on HIV/STI prevalence, social and contextual vulnerability and access to prevention and treatment services among key populations. As a Senior Technical Advisor at USAID, Dr. Miller supports PEPFAR countries on topics related to key populations, surveillance, and strategic information.

Email: wimiller@usaid.gov